ANXIETY DEEPENS AS TO AMUNDSEN'S FATE

NEARLY 4 DAYS ELAPSE AND NO WORD FROM HIM

UNFAVORABLE WEATHER MAY HAVE DELAYED HIS RETURN

UNCONFIRMED REPORTS SAY EX-PLORER NOW AT KING'S BAY

(By United Press)
Oslo, Norway, May 25.—With more than three and a half days elapsed since Captain Amundsen's aerial expedition hopped off for the peak of the Universe, no authentic news of the expedition's fate had come here up to 9 A. M. today.

Anxiety deepened into real concern, but still a ray of hope lightened the hearts of the watchers at Spitzbergen. This was the fact that snow and fog dimming the view to the northward had abated.

The presence of unfavorable weather had lead some observers to surmise that Amundsen and his American colleague, Lincoln Ellsworth, had alighted and were waiting for the storm to quiet before continuing back to the base of their north pole journey.

Early morning unconfirmed press reports reaching London by roundabout routes reported Amundsen had returned to King's Bay where he and his fliers jumped off Thursday afternoon with a view to conquering the North Pole from the air. Since Oslo is in good communication with Spitzbergen, the Oslo message above may be taken as the correct version, namely, that Amundsen and his aerial adventurers were still unheard from. Since many experts set last midnight the time limit for his safe return, the further delay naturally aroused deep concern everywhere, though there may still be weather factors as noted above to account for the prolonged absence.

The Central News, London, reported overnight that the Amundsen base ship, Hobby, had plunged out beyond King's Bay along the coast, hoping for some trace of the fliers. This search continued, the News agency said, and proved fruitless.

WILL NOT SEND THE SHENANDOAH

Washington, May 25.—The dispatch of the dirigible Shenandoah to search for the Amundsen expedition is not being considered by the Navy Department, it was stated officially to the United Press by officials of the bureau, who, however, said they believed the project feasible.

ARCTIC WEATHER REPORTED AS BAD

Oslo, Norway, May 25.—Four days have now passed and Captain Amundsen and his American colleague, Lincoln Ellsworth, have not yet returned to civilization from their attempt to reach the North Pole by air.

Many experts claim that Amundsen would still return, but some Norwegians feared differently.

Adding to the spirit of pessimism was a report indicating that the Arctic weather was bad. There had been reports yesterday of a snowstorm—then it was reported there had been an improvement, but now comes fresh stories of unfavorable conditions.

Consumer Always Pays For the Credit Thief

(By United Press)
Kansas City, Mo., May 25.—It's the consumer who pays for the credit thief of business.

A constantly mounting toll of increased prices is being added to every article purchased in this country by the operation of credit crooks.

Their "salaries" last year amounted to 250 million dollars.

Such statements are backed up by Joseph J. Austin, representative of the National Association of Retail Credit Men.

Austin reported 20,615 merchandise failures in the United States in 1924.

DOUBLE BLOCKADE, FEDERAL, STATE, ON RUM AT DETROIT

CORDON TO EXTEND FROM DE-TROIT TO PORT HURON

STATE CRUISER ALADDIN, TAKES UP ITS STA-TION

(By United Press)
Mount Clemens, Mich., May 25.—The first step in the announced plan of federal and state authorities to blockade the river front from Detroit to Port Huron against rum smuggling started today when the state cruiser, Aladdin moved to the south side of the Clinton River and cast anchor.

Simultaneously with this action, four speed boats using the cruiser as a base took up patrol work along Lake St. Clair, two patrolling north to Port Huron and two patrolling south to Grasse Point near the alleged smuggling base.

This section was selected as the starting point for the drive because it has been known during the past three months as the bootlegging section, supplying Detroit's 15,000 blind pigs with much of their booze.

The drive was first mentioned Sunday when State Commissioner of Public Safety A. G. Straight accompanied a party of high federal prohibition officers on an inspection of the coast.

State troops will live aboard the Aladdin which will remain anchored for an indefinite period at its present station about a mile from the mouth of the river. Federal officials have indicated their forces in the Detroit area will be tripled in the next few months.

DETROIT IS CALLED DRY LAW THORN BY CHIEF HAYNES

Detroit, May 25.—"God might have made a sharper thorn in the side of temperance than Detroit, but he did not," United States Prohibition Commissioner Roy C. Haynes, said today.

The commissioner, his chief assistant, E. C. Yellowey, and Thomas E. Stone of Cleveland, head of the 10th district, and a corps of other dry agents, are here ostensibly for a conference on enforcement matters. Haynes refused to announce any plans against bootleggers or grafting officials.

"I believe that will ease the situation here a little, don't you?" he answered in reply to a question as to the effect of the Ontario new beer law upon prohibition.

MAKES NEW RECOMMENDATION TO SECRETARY OF WAR
DAVIS

(By United Press)
Washington, May 25.—Formal disapproval of the War Department's selection of Armistice Day for the holding of a second defense day test and recommendation by President Coolidge that it be held on July 4th was announced by the White House today.

The president in a letter to Acting Secretary of War Davis suggested July 4th as a more appropriate date and directed the department if it chose any other day than a national holiday to hold its plans in abeyance until the authority of congress is secured.

The president also advised the department to emphasize in its letters to governors that participation of the states in the test is "purely voluntary."

The War Department will accept the president's suggestion and hold its defense test on July 4th, it was said in well-informed quarters. Acting Secretary Davis declined to make any formal statement pending his formal answer to the president which is expected the latter part of the week.

U. S. SUPREME COURT

CAN PUBLISH LISTS OF NAMES OF TAXPAYERS AND
TAXES PAID

(By United Press)
Washington, May 25.—Publication of income tax returns by newspapers was upheld as legal by the United States supreme court today.

Newspapers can publish lists of names of taxpayers and the amount of tax paid, the court upheld.

The final decision was returned on the publicity clause of the 1924 revenue act which permitted publicity of the returns, but failed to suggest whether or not they might be published by periodicals.

In its decision, the court quashed the indictment returned against the Baltimore Post and Walter S. Dickey, owner and editor of the Kansas City Journal-Post.

The decision affirmed the verdict of the lower court.

NURSE TESTIFIES AGAINST ARTHUR LOPEZ-FRAZIER

SAID SHE ATTENDED HIM YEAR
AND A HALF WHILE SHELL
SHOCKED

SAID HE TRIED TO REPRESENT
HIMSELF AS RAY
GREEN

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, May 25.—Arthur Lopez-Frazier who is suing the United States government in federal district court here for recognition as a former world war veteran and claiming he is entitled to veteran's compensation, tried to represent himself as Ray Green before he declared he was Arthur Frazier, a government witness testified today.

Miss Margaret Moore, Pawnee, Okla., who says she took care of him a year and a half while he was suffering from shell shock, made the statement. She declared Lopez-Frazier told her his brother had been killed in action in France, and that the government insurance was paid to his grandfather, Milton Green when rightfully it should have been paid to him.

She wrote a letter to Milton Green, she said, and the insurance payments were held up until it was proved that Arthur Green was an imposter.

After that, Miss Moore testified, he told her that he was really Arthur Lopez and had an uncle in Budah, Texas. She wrote to that uncle, but Arthur could not spell and the letter was returned as the name of the man and town were misspelled.

The man referred to was Steve Actosta of Budah, Texas. Later Actosta was found, she said, and he claimed Lopez-Frazier is really Arthur Lopez, a nephew of his who had run away.

Fire swept away four hospitals and townsmen bravely turned to aid the ill there and most of the patients are believed to have reached safety.

Toyoka firemen were in despair as the water mains broke, thus leaving most of the town to the mercy of the fire. The citizens were so horror-stricken that many died in their tracks, overcome in some cases by heart failure, overtaken in others by the flames. Mothers separated from their children were pitiful in their desperation. At one town a child's excursion was seized by panic.

Japan is working to efface the traces of another tragedy wrought by the cruel hand of fate.

In speech after speech he has reiterated his belief that the government should interest itself as little as possible in the private affairs of the people. He has declared that government activities should be limited to those absolutely necessary. His ideal of government is one in which the governed can be allowed to regulate the most of their own affairs.

In personal habits no less than in his formal addresses President Coolidge has exhibited his belief in conservation. He dresses well but he wastes nothing on ostentation. He does his work without wasted effort. Above all he wastes neither time nor words. The business of the executive offices is transacted without fuss or friction.

Even in his recreations he follows the principle of conservation. He does not play golf because it takes so much time to dress and go to and from the links. Walking and riding his electric horse are his principal forms of exercise, because in each he secures the maximum amount of exercise with a minimum amount of time.

INCOMPLETE FIGURES PLACE DEAD AT 318

TOYOKA AREA SUFFERED LOSS OF 2,168 HOUSES IN THE
QUAKE AND FIRE

NO FOREIGNERS KILLED, BUT MANY NOTABLE JAPANESE
PERISHED

(By United Press)
Osaka, Japan, May 25.—Official, though incomplete figures on Saturday's earthquake and fire in western Japan placed the dead at 318. These figures may be increased though it is hoped that the bulk of the dead have been learned.

There were 322 severely injured and many more slightly injured—the latter uncounted. How extensive was the property damage in the region stretching for eight square miles around Toyoka was indicated by the incomplete returns showing 2,168 houses destroyed with property damage proportionately in excess of the Tokio ravages in the 1923 earthquake and fire. This damage would have mounted still higher, it is judged, had the area been urban rather than rural.

No foreigners were killed, though some notable Japanese are reported to have perished.

Relief work proceeded smoothly. The sympathetic messages and offers of aid from American and other nations are deeply appreciated, but it is stated that foreign help is not necessary.

Despite the horror of what one witness called a "living, burning hell," the natives were proceeding with plans for rebuilding just as doggedly as their Tokio brothers did in 1923 when a quake and fire ravaged that city.

Throughout the stricken areas, there were tragic scenes as the living found their dead kin or sought their relatives.

The flames were extinguished and only blackened embers marked many spots which flared up to the sky. Kinokuni Hot Springs was virtually wiped from the earth and now there stands on this beauty spot only two hotels and a couple of fire stained homes. An eye witness today pictured more of the horror.

Fire swept away four hospitals and townsmen bravely turned to aid the ill there and most of the patients are believed to have reached safety.

Toyoka firemen were in despair as the water mains broke, thus leaving most of the town to the mercy of the fire. The citizens were so horror-stricken that many died in their tracks, overcome in some cases by heart failure, overtaken in others by the flames. Mothers separated from their children were pitiful in their desperation. At one town a child's excursion was seized by panic.

(By United Press)
Mount Clemens, Mich., May 25.—
The first step in the announced plan of federal and state authorities to blockade the river front from Detroit to Port Huron against rum smuggling started today when the state cruiser, Aladdin moved to the south side of the Clinton River and east anchorage.

Simultaneously with this action, four speed boats using the cruiser as a base took up patrol work along Lake St. Clair, two patrolling north to Port Huron and two patrolling

This section was selected as the starting point for the drive because it has been known during the past

The drive was first mentioned Sunday when State Commissioner of Pub-coast.

State troopers will live aboard the Aladdin which will remain anchored of the river. Federal officials have indicated their forces in the Detroit area will be tripled in the next few

PRES. COOLIDGE DISAPPROVES OF ARMISTICE DAY FOR SUCH PRACTICE

MAKES NEW RECOMMENDATION
TO SECRETARY OF WAR
DAVIS

(By United Press)
Washington, May 25.—Formal disapproval of the War Department's selection of Armistice Day for the holding of a second defense day test and recommendation by President Coolidge that it be held on July 4th was announced by the White House today.

The president in a letter to Acting
Secretary of War Davis suggested July 4th as a more appropriate date and directed the department if it chose any other day than a national holiday to hold its plans in abeyance until the authority of congress is secured.

The president also advised the department to emphasize in its letters to governors that participation of the states in the test is "purely voluntary."

The War Department will accept the president's suggestion and hold its defense test on July 4th, it was said in well-informed quarters. Acting Secretary Davis declined to make any formal statement pending his formal answer to the president which is expected the latter part of the week.

U. S. SUPREME COURT

CAN PUBLISH LISTS OF NAMES
OF TAXPAYERS AND
TAXES PAID

(By United Press)
Washington, May 25.—Publication of income tax returns by newspapers was upheld as legal by the United States supreme court today.

Newspapers can publish lists of names of taxpayers and the amount of tax paid, the court upheld.

The final decision was returned on the publicity clause of the 1924 revenue act which permitted publicity of the returns, but failed to suggest whether or not they might be published by periodicals.

In its decision, the court quashed the indictment returned against the Baltimore Post and Walter S. Dickey, owner and editor of the Kansas City Journal-Post.

The decision affirmed the verdict of the lower court.

NURSE TESTIFIES
AGAINST ARTHUR
LOPEZ-FRAZIER

SAID SHE ATTENDED HIM YEAR
AND A HALF WHILE SHELL
SHOCKED

HIMSELF AS RAY
GREEN

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, May 25.—Arthur Lopez-Frazier who is suing the United States government in federal district court here for recognition as a former world war veteran and claiming he is entitled to veteran's compensation, tried to represent himself as Ray Green before he declared he was Arthur Frazier, a government witness testified today.

Miss Margaret Moore, Pawnee, Okla., who says she took care of him
a year and a half while he was suffering from shell shock, made the statement. She declared Lopez-Frazier told her his brother had been killed in action in France, and that the government insurance was paid to his grandfather, Milton Green when rightfully it should have been paid to him.

She wrote a letter to Milton Green, she said, and the insurance payments were held up until it was proved that Arthur Green was an impos-ter.

After that, Miss Moore testified,
he told her that he was really Arthur Lopez and had an uncle in Budah, Texas. She wrote to that uncle, but Arthur could not spell and the letter was returned as the name of the man and town were misspelled.

The man referred to was Steve Acosta of Budah, Texas. Later Acosta was found, she said, and he claimed Lopez-Frazier is really Arthur Lopez, a nephew of his who had run away.

COOLIDGE IS A
CONSERVATIONIST

(By United Press)
Washington, May 25.—President Coolidge has disclosed himself to the country as a conservationist—in fact, conservation is the fundamental principle of his governmental philosophy, according to students of the chief executive's policies.

His conservation is not of the Roosevelt brand. It has little to do with the treasuring of natural resources like coal and oil. The Coolidge conservation is allied to the typical thrift for which New England is famed. He believes in saving everything and wasting nothing.

Again and again he has emphasized the necessity of saving. His two most famous policies, tax reduction and economy, are but phases of his belief in the conservation of the taxpayers' money. His campaign last fall was founded on governmental conservation, the preservation of the constitution from amendment.

In no speech he has made since becoming president has he failed to impress upon his audience some angle of his general conservation policy. Generally it has been a re-emphasis of his drive for tax reduction and economy in government. Occasionally he has varied this to recommend increased economy for business and private persons.

Next in importance after his campaign for conservation in government finances has been his advocacy of conservation in government itself.

INCOMPLETE
FIGURES PLACE
DEAD AT 318

TOYCOKA AREA SUFFERED LOSS
OF 2,168 HOUSE IN THE
QUAKE AND FIRE

NO FOREIGNERS KILLED, BUT
MANY NOTABLE JAPANESE
PERISHED

(By United Press)
Osaka, Japan, May 25.—Official, though incomplete figures on Saturday's earthquake and fire in western Japan placed the dead at 318. These figures may be increased though it is hoped that the bulk of the dead have been learned.

There were 322 severely injured and many more slightly injured—the latter uncounted. How extensive was the property damage in the region stretching for eight square miles around Toycoke was indicated by the incomplete returns showing 2,168 houses destroyed with property damage proportionately in excess of the Tokio ravages in the 1923 earthquake and fire. This damage would have mounted still higher, it is judged, had the area been urban rather than rural.

No foreigners were killed, though some notable Japanese are reported to have perished.

Relief work proceeded smoothly.
The sympathetic messages and offers of aid from American and other nations are deeply appreciated, but it is stated that foreign help is not necessary.

Despite the horror of what one witness called a "living, burning hell," the natives were proceeding with plans for rebuilding just as doggedly as their Tokio brothers did in 1923 when a quake and fire ravaged that city.

Throughout the stricken areas,
there were tragic scenes as the living found their dead kin or sought their relatives.

The flames were extinguished and only blackened embers marked many spots which flared up to the sky.
Kinosaki Hot Springs was virtually wiped from the earth and now there stands on this beauty spot only two hotels and a couple of fire stained homes. An eye witness today pictured more of the horror.

Fire swept away four hospitals and townsmen bravely turned to aid the ill there and most of the patients are believed to have reached safety.

Toycoke firemen were in despair as the water mains broke, thus leaving most of the town to the mercy of the fire. The citizens were so horror-stricken that many died in their tracks, overcome in some cases by heart failure, overtaken in others by the flames. Mothers separated from their children were pitiful in their desperation. At one town a children's excursion was seized by panic.

Japan is working to efface the traces of another tragedy wrought by the cruel hand of fate.

In speech after speech he has reiterated his belief that the government should interest itself as little as possible in the private affairs of the people. He has declared that government activities should be limited to those absolutely necessary. His ideal of government is one in which the governed can be allowed to regulate the most of their own affairs.

In personal habits no less than in his formal addresses President Coolidge has exhibited his belief in conservation. He dresses well but he wastes nothing on ostentation. He does his work without wasted effort.
Above all he wastes neither time nor words. The business of the executive offices is transacted without fuss or friction.

Even in his recreations he follows the principle of conservation. He does not play golf because it takes so much time to dress and go to and from the links. Walking and riding his electric horse are his principal forms of exercise, because in each he secures the maximum amount of exercise with a minimum amount of lost time.

SOMETHING FOR STATE HIGHWAYS

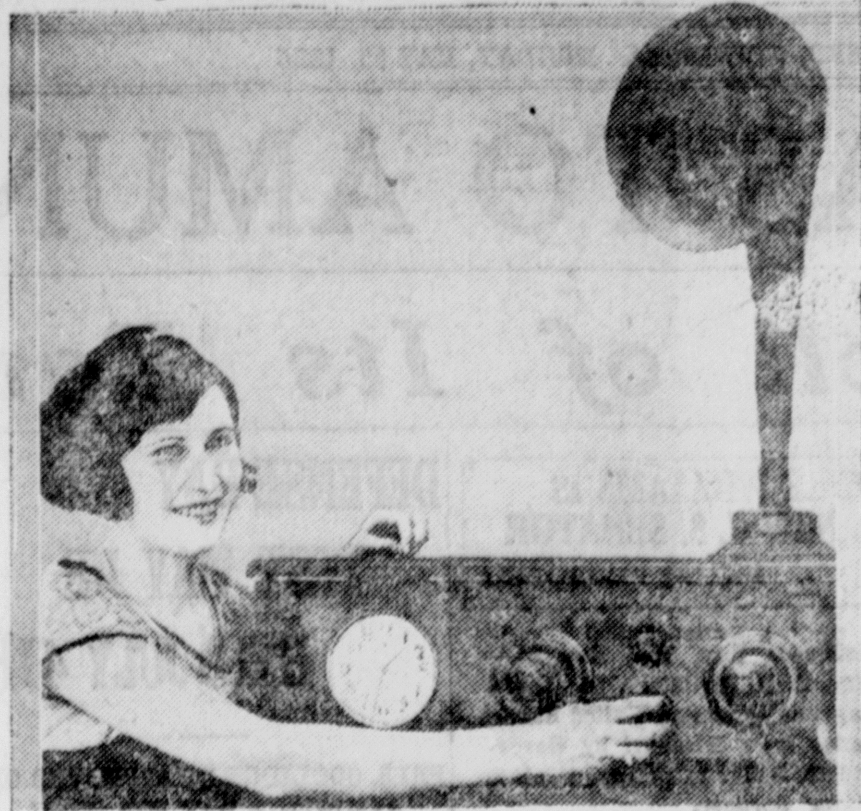

St. Paul Pioneer Press
Commissioner Babcock's announcement of highway contracts, on which bids will be asked June 2, reveals that Minnesota is ironing out the worst spots in the state roads, while other states are constructing permanent highways on a great scale. The improvements this year will consist of a little here and a little there, such as a half a mile of paving in Northfield and one mile in Albert Lea. Altogether it is expected that 80 miles of pavement will be laid which may be compared with 149 miles each in Wisconsin and Texas, 190 in West Virginia, 250 in North Carolina, 500 each in Michigan and Indiana, 850 in Pennsylvania and 1,200 in Illinois. It is not meant to be implied that the grading and bridge building included in the Minnesota program is not necessary and highly desirable, but the construction and improvement of dirt roads is not adequately meeting the public need. That is evident from the estimate of $4,000,000 this year for maintenance, compared with $3,500,000 last year.

Mr. Babcock is probably doing the best he can with the money available for new construction, which will be $5,000,000 against $12,000,000 last year. It should be explained that a large part of the $12,000,000 was made up of county bond proceeds, which could be used only in the county of issue, but with payment guaranteed by the state.

Something is to be done for the St. Paul-Duluth road, which considering its length, is the heaviest traveled gravel road in the state and consequently one of the most expensive to maintain. * * * It is planned to relocate parts of the road, so as to have it nearly all on one side of the Northern Pacific railroad tracks, instead of crossing at grade every little while from one side to the other. The present road was not laid out as one highway, but is a connecting of local roads. All those improvements are valuable and necessary as preliminary to putting on a hard surface for the hundred miles not already so improved. A paved highway the whole way is as necessary as that now existing on the so-called Jefferson highway, from Faribault to Little Falls.

'MIDWEST MOTORIST' SPECIAL PUBLICITY

Brainerd Edition to Appear in Monthly Magazine With 4000
Circulation

EDITOR WRITING STORY

Magazine is Published by the Kansas
City Automobile
Club

Brainerd and the surrounding lake region is to receive special publicity in the vicinity of Kansas City, Missouri, in a special Brainerd Edition of the "Midwest Motorist," a monthly magazine with a circulation of 4,000, published by the Kansas City Automobile Club.

The Chamber of Commerce through its special committee, of which Henry I. Cohen is chairman, secured advertising enough from summer resort owners in this district and from local merchants, together with descriptive reading matter about the Brainerd lake region, to fill a ten-page section in the magazine, which is a 32-page periodical, said to be widely read in its territory.

Mrs. Alice M. Chalmers, editor of the "Midwest Motorist," has been in Brainerd the past week, and with the assistance of the committee, has gained first hand information about the playground facilities in this vicinity. She is very enthusiastic about the Brainerd lake region and has promised to give it excellent publicity in her magazine.

The articles in the Brainerd section will include descriptions of the vacation possibilities at the nearby lakes, such as Gull, Long, Pelican, Bay Lake, Mille Lacs, Hubert and others that are easily accessible from this city.

These articles will be prefaced with a map showing the best automobile route from Kansas City to Brainerd, and with pictures taken in and about the "Gateway to the 10,000 Lakes."

But the Brainerd section will not be devoted to the lake section alone. The editor was very favorably impressed with the agriculture, especially dairying, and the mining in Crow Wing county, and these industries will be featured with the playground possibilities.

The Brainerd edition of the "Midwest Motorist" will be off the press about June 10th. In addition to its circulation it has a large exchange list, and promises to give the Brainerd lake region some valuable publicity.

Some of the members of the Kansas City Automobile Club are not strangers in Crow Wing county, says Mrs. Chalmers. A number have enjoyed the playground facilities here, and the secretary, Chester T. Starr, owns lake property near Brainerd. These men returned to their homes with glowing accounts of their vacations spent here, and it was partly at their suggestion that the Brainerd edition was conceived.

The special committee from the Chamber of Commerce has spared no pains to make this edition of the "Midwest Motorist" a strong appeal to Kansas City tourists, and expects that good results are to be expected this season from the publicity.

Rich Restaurant Owner of Mill City

TORE THROUGH ROAD RAILING

Posts Held and Kept Coupe Suspended
30 Feet Above
Mississippi

A Hupmobile coupe, said to be carrying four passengers, narrowly escaped being thrown into the Mississippi river near the paper mill Sunday evening, when the driver lost control of the car and it broke through the guard rail about 100 feet south of the river bridge.

The car was owned and driven by R. B. Wrigley, resident of the R. B. Wrigley Company, operating a line of restaurants in the cities. The names of the other occupants could not be learned.

Mr. Wrigley stated that the Hupmobile struck a stone in the road, and because he had a loose hold on the steering wheel, the car was suddenly thrown to the west side of the road, where it smashed through the guard rail.

Posts from the guard rail caught on the car and braced against the side of the road in such a manner that the machine hung on the edge of a 30 foot drop to the river.

The radiator and one headlight was badly damaged, and a part of the body dented, but aside from that the car was not hurt. It was quickly repaired and the party continued on its way to Minneapolis Monday morning.

U. C. T. TO GIVE BARGAIN DANCE

At Lum Park Pavilion on Friday
Evening, May 29th, U. C. T. 10
Piece Orchestra to Play

INSTRUMENTATION GIVEN

Invitations to the Dance Are Now
Being Mailed Out by the U. C.
T. Council Committee

Members of the dance committee of the Brainerd United Commercial Travelers Council No. 545 are mailing invitations for their next and last dance of the 1924-1925 season. This is to be a bargain dance and will be given at the Lum Park pavilion on Friday evening, May 29th.

The U. C. T. have an excellent reputation for their dances, allowing no admittance without an invitation and not admitting ladies without escort. The U. C. T. orchestra of 10 pieces will furnish the music. A new banjo soloist has been engaged and Julian, the master trumpeter of the Lyceum theatre ball room orchestra of Minneapolis will feature the latest hit, "Who Takes Care of the Caretaker's Daughter When He is Busy Taking Care?"

The orchestra will be composed of drums, piano, sousaphone, trombone, clarinet, two saxophones, banjo and two trumpets, with Swedie Hedstrom as director. Two of the U. C. T. orchestra are members of the Lyceum theatre orchestra of Minneapolis. To accommodate this orchestra the musicians' stage had to be enlarged.

It also happens that May 29th is community sales day and no doubt a great many visitors from out of town will be in Brainerd, and if the merchants of Brainerd have any visitors who wish to stay over and attend the dance, they can secure invitations from John F. Hurley at Sherlund's garage or any U. C. T. member upon request.

The full surplined choir of St. Paul's Episcopal church, which consists of fourteen adults, eight boys, a cross-bearer and a flag bearer, 24 people in all, motored to Aitkin on Sunday morning, and assisted Rev. W. M. Walton, rector of St. Paul's, in very impressive communion services at the Aitkin church.

Mrs. William Gustafson, the organist, was in charge of the choir, and 30 people from the Brainerd church accompanied the singers. There were also a number in attendance from Deerwood. It was a beautiful service and the fine music of the choir was fully appreciated by the good people of Aitkin.

After the service, Rev. and Mrs. Walton and all members of the choir, were entertained with an elaborate dinner at a farm home just outside the village, and the remainder of the Brainerd party dined at the Foley hotel, enjoying an excellent chicken dinner.

LOCAL BEEKEEPERS ATTEND 'U' COURSE

Gust Ringhand of Deerwood attended the short course in beekeeping held this week by staff men of the bee division, University of Minnesota, at University Farm, Wagon and pleasant weather furnished ideal conditions for observation and study of bees in the university apiary. Between 40 and 50 persons, mostly beginners in beekeeping, registered for the course.

Instruction was given the first day in the causes of swarming and methods of control. The production of extracted honey was featured the second day, and the production of comb honey was the keynote subject the third day. Bee diseases, particularly American and European foul brood, were considered the fourth and last day. Question boxes and daily conferences gave opportunity for full discussion of many practical questions.

The next state wide event of interest to honey producers will be the annual meeting of the Minnesota Beekeepers' association. This will probably be held in Minneapolis the latter part of November, says Francis Jager, chief of the university's division of bee culture.

MORE FARMS IN NORTH DAKOTA

Fargo, N. D., May 25.—Surveys of eastern North Dakota covering the past five years, indicates there has been a healthy by gradual increase in the number of farms under cultivation.

In the 15 counties covered in the survey, the preliminary figures on the 1925 agricultural census show there are 25,548 farms as compared with 24,491 in the same territory in 1920. This is an increase of approximately four and one-quarter per cent.

The survey purports to correct the impression that North Dakota has lost a large number of farmers comparing the situation with that in several eastern states, where surveys show a decrease in the number of farms under cultivation in the same period.

"The depression which has existed in the agricultural world for three of four years prior to 1924 has caused farmers, where extensive use of commercial fertilizer is necessary, to abandon their operations and move to the cities," the report states.

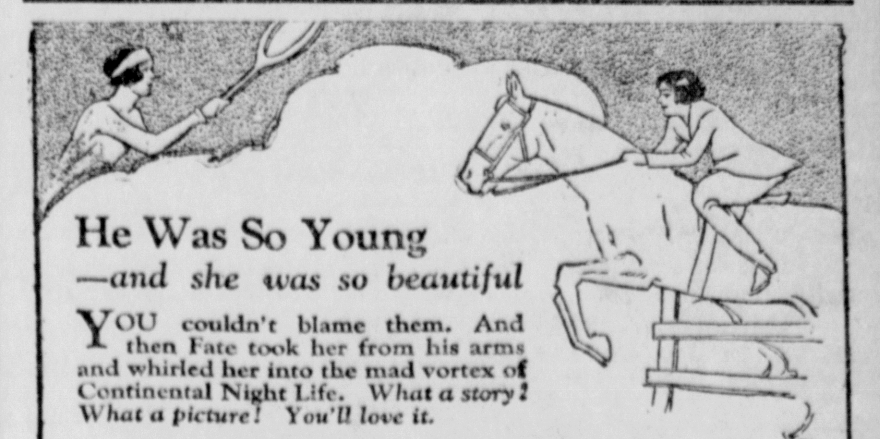

"These statistics indicate that farmers of North Dakota have learned it is more profitable to farm a smaller acreage, permitting diversified farming instead of successive wheat crops. The period of adversity through which they have passed has shown them the fallacy of one-crop farming. They are rapidly coming to realize that in diversification, lies the salvation of not only their own prosperity but also continued fertility of lands."

Farmers in the central and eastern states are also conscious of opportunities in North Dakota with the result that each year, the number of farms under cultivation, is increased, the report concludes.

Alpha Chapter, O. E. S.

The regular meeting of Alpha Chapter, No. 23, O. E. S. will be held this Monday evening in the Masonic hall. All members are asked to be present and visiting members are welcome.

Ira L. Tomlinson, who for the past two years has been in partnership with Clyde Ate in the National hotel barber shop, has sold his interest there to Jack Hart, and today purchased the shop owned by Bert Krause and Ole Skillestad, in the basement of the Odd Fellow building, under the L. Mr. Tomlinson has many friends in the city who will be glad to learn of his launching into business for himself.

Messrs Krause and Skillestad have conducted the shop for the past year and a half. They have made no plans for the future.

U. C. T. TO GIVE BARGAIN DANCE

At Lum Park Pavilion on Friday
Evening, May 29th, U. C. T. 10
Piece Orchestra to Play

INSTRUMENTATION GIVEN

Invitations to the Dance Are Now
Being Mailed Out by the U. C.
T. Council Committee

Members of the dance committee of the Brainerd United Commercial Travelers Council No. 545 are mailing invitations for their next and last dance of the 1924-1925 season. This is to be a bargain dance and will be given at the Lum Park pavilion on Friday evening, May 29th.

The U. C. T. have an excellent reputation for their dances, allowing no admittance without an invitation and not admitting ladies without escort. The U. C. T. orchestra of 10 pieces will furnish the music. A new banjo soloist has been engaged and Julian, the master trumpeter of the Lyceum theatre ball room orchestra, of Minneapolis will feature the latest hit, "Who Takes Care of the Caretaker's Daughter When He is Busy Taking Care?"

The orchestra will be composed of drums, piano, sousophone, trombone, clarinet, two saxophones, banjo and two trumpets, with Swedie Hedstrom as director. Two of the U. C. T. orchestra are members of the Lyceum theatre orchestra of Minneapolis. To accommodate this orchestra the musicians' stage had to be enlarged.

It also happens that May 29th is community sales day and no doubt a great many visitors from out of town will be in Brainerd, and if the merchants of Brainerd have any visitors who wish to stay over and attend the dance, they can secure invitations from John F. Hurley at Sherlund's garage or any U. C. T. member upon request.

OAKLAND CEMETERY SOCIETY MEETING

Annual Session to be Held at Cemetery Grounds on State Highway No. 27

MILE FROM CROW WING

Followed by Business Session

The annual meeting of the Oakland Cemetery Association, will be held at the cemetery grounds on State Highway No. 27, one mile southwest of Crow Wing, on Saturday, May 30th.

A basket picnic dinner is planned for 12 o'clock noon, and will be followed by the regular business meeting and election of officers at two o'clock.

All members of the association are urged to be present and to participate in the annual meeting. Those who do not own lots in the cemetery, are asked to attend the meeting and to select a lot at that time.

W. H. Everest is president of the association, Richard Weatherbee is secretary and Levy Bailey is actuary. The cemetery is now laid out, consists of five acres of land, and is in a very pretty spot.

MORE FARMS IN NORTH DAKOTA

Fargo, N. D., May 25.—Surveys of eastern North Dakota covering the past five years, indicates there has been a healthy by gradual increase in the number of farms under cultivation.

In the 15 counties covered in the survey, the preliminary figures on the 1925 agricultural census show there are 25,548 farms as compared with 24,491 in the same territory in 1920. This is an increase of approximately four and one-quarter per cent.

The survey purports to correct the impression that North Dakota has lost a large number of farmers comparing the situation with that in several eastern states, where surveys show a decrease in the number of farms under cultivation in the same period.

"The depression which has existed in the agricultural world for three of four years prior to 1924 has caused farmers, where extensive use of commercial fertilizer is necessary, to abandon their operations and move to the cities," the report states.

"These statistics indicate that farmers of North Dakota have learned it is more profitable to farm a smaller acreage, permitting diversified farming instead of successive wheat crops. The period of adversity through which they have passed has shown them the fallacy of one-crop farming. They are rapidly coming to realize that in diversification, lies the salvation of not only their own prosperity but also continued fertility of lands."

Farmers in the central and eastern states are also conscious of opportunities in North Dakota with the result that each year, the number of farms under cultivation, is increased, the report concludes.

AMERICAN LEGION ENDOWMENT FUND

THE American Legion Endowment Fund is best explained in the words of General John J. Pershing. Many communities in Minnesota have already raised their quotas. Few have failed to attain the quotas set.

The American Legion is engaged in the most worthy and necessary undertaking of caring for the orphan children of ex-service men, and, in cooperation with the government, of aiding needy disabled veterans. It proposes to raise an Endowment Fund of $5,000,000 for these purposes, to which every American citizen should contribute.

America's part in this drive will be taken up in the same fine spirit that was manifest in the various drives during the war. We face no less responsibility today in taking care of the 35,000 or more orphans of service men and in helping the men who came back maimed for life.

It is the protection of this helpless childhood against poverty and disease, ignorance, vice and crime that warrants the American Legion's appeal for money enough to provide real American homes and give them the care and education of the more fortunate children of the nation. It is the cooperation of the American Legion with the government that necessitates the use of funds to provide adequate care for the disabled.

Not a cent of the principal will be touched—the interest alone will be used. This will insure a perpetual fund for the care of those unfortunates who suffer for our freedom.

POLAR AIR EXPLORATIONS

THE United States has been slow in sending the Shenandoah dirigible to unknown, uncharted ice fields in the polar regions. Likewise, the United States moved slowly in its world flight preparations. Nevertheless, in the latter case, every step and contingency was amply covered and nothing was left to chance. Enthusiastic, haphazard flying was exemplified by the foreign aviator who attached himself to the American round-the-world fliers, then steamed out ahead, came to grief when he landed on a rock-bound coast and then delayed the whole flight of the Americans until relief was sent and he was picked up.

The flight of Captain Amundsen into the Polar regions is a brave one. Anyone who has ever seen ice fields north of the Arctic circle knows what an uninviting landing place exists in such a field of hummocks and ice spires. The flying is not such a dangerous sport, but the question of alighting is the critical one. Even if it were possible for him to land safely, the next great obstacle is rising from such a wilderness of ice. Ice does not freeze into skating surfaces like Gull Lake or Big Pelican Lake, but resembles ice tossed about in a spring thaw along Mille Lacs Lake.

WHEN THE WIND HITS THE WOODS

EVERY nature lover suffers a pang when he views storm destruction in the woods. The trees at one's summer or lake home come to be regarded as old friends, sturdy and reliable. Comes along a hard windstorm like last Friday evening and ponderous oaks, graceful maples, brightly hued birches fall in a heap.

Trees, outwardly sound, but bearing a half rotten base, are quickly snapped off a few feet from the ground and in their fall tear down or disfigure neighboring trees.

There is quite a bit of selfishness connected with viewing such a scene. The first thought of each resorter centers on his own patch of the woods. Well, when the house is still on its foundation and no timber has crashed into the roof and the road is clear, he sets out to see how his neighbors fared.

In the scheme of nature we find little use for a hard wind storm. There are few sailing vessels praying for wind.

THEY DO COME BACK, SOMETIMES

THEY do come back, sometimes. We refer to Sissler, Sande and the Polish wrestler, Zbyszko. We always have to wrestle with our typewriter to spell the Pole's name correctly. "Coming back" is a harder task than getting started in the first place.

It implies the most rigid adherence to training rules, an iron will and enthusiasm of the unquenchable kind. It takes grit and lots of it. And if one fails, half the world will say, "I told you so."

It's not only in the line of sports that men come back, but in the business field too. Ford never started his great adventure in manufacturing cars until long past the age of 40.

Once in a while, too, a politician comes back. For instance, Caillaux of France, previously disfranchised and now honored. In America the rule is that all those ascending the channels of Salt Creek have no return tickets.

AMERICA IN RELIEF WORK

AMERICA is always prompt in relief work and the American Red Cross will again extend aid to stricken Japan. Unlike some countries, America does more than merely cable condolences. It follows up with active, constructive relief work, money and administration.

It was the first to assist Japan in its earthquake catastrophe of several years ago, vessels of the Asiatic fleet being the first to steam into its stricken harbors.

And in other lines America assists in relieving distress and extending aid. Should the fate of Captain Amundsen continue shrouded in the Arctic wastes of snow, ice and impenetrable silence, it will be American initiative and endeavor which will find the missing aviator.

A FINE of $1,000 or imprisonment for one year for circulating of false rumors about the condition of banks is provided in a bill recently introduced in the Iowa senate. And why not, queries the Blue Earth Post, make it straight hanging for the state and national bank examiners to certify a clean bill of health to a bank absolutely rotten in its fiscal affairs?

FISHING laws have changed and it behooves the disciple of Isaac Walton to equip himself with the latest edition, also with a pocket rule and calendar.

NEW LEGISLATION TO CURTAIL ROAD WORK

EG REDUCTION IN 1925 CAPITAL WILL FORCE POSTPONEMENT OF MANY IMPROVEMENTS

As per a forewarning in the Brainerd Dispatch several weeks ago, local good roads advocates may save time and traveling expenses by deferring trips to St. Paul to urge betterments this year on state highways hereabouts. A highway bulletin this week states that improvement projects are listed in the order of importance and all that remains is to figure just how many the reduced construction funds will cover. The first call for bids on 1925 work is planned soon.

State highway construction this year will total about $4,000,000 in addition to more than $2,000,000 put under contract but uncompleted last year. That is about a third of the improvement average for past years, and the curtailment is due to new financial limitations. No further authorizations voted, bonds will take about $3,500,000 of auto and gas taxes this year, where they added about $8,000,000 in the average year past. The result is a reduction of $11,500,000 in highway working capital. Gasoline taxes will more than offset the small reductions in individual car taxes. But there will be but $4,000,000 for new improvements—two-thirds less than in the average year heretofore.

That fund will be used where most needed to best serve largest numbers.

Mannish Tailleur and Chic Ensemble

Two Most Popular Fashions of Season Combined in Latest Mode.

The mode has acquired a complex—and a Freudian complex to boot, writes a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Herald-Tribune. Having freed itself from the tyranny of the tubular outline, it has stepped blithely into the maelstrom of the masculine influence in dress versus the feminine, and miffed is still unable to rest easy in the lap of fashion. Contrast the mannish tailleur and the essential feminine ensemble, the simple unadorned suits with the frilly and intricate dresses of the new season, the mold and flare with the straight line, and you will begin to appreciate the numerous conflicting issues which have been raised by the Paris couturier. Out of the varied maze of themes it is clearly evident that the mode must either follow the stricter lines of the mannish tailleur, the gentler influence of the feminine ensemble, or else arrive at some happy compromise.

The ensemble is the leading exponent of the feminine influence in spring dress, and it is equally a leader in the revolt from the hackneyed tubular silhouette. The theme, of course, may be and frequently is extended to hats, hosiery, shoes and the various other accessories of dress, but in its essential form it consists of a dress and coat which are brought into a single identity by means of fabric trimming or fabric design. The most usual linking liaison is a printed material which is used for the dress and the lining of the coat, and which appears not infrequently upon sleeves, collar and hemline as well. Granted that there is no longer anything novel in the theme—it was originally introduced in the winter of 1923-24—its principal virtue lies in the fact that its novel effects cannot be easily imitated. On that basis numerous authorities insist that the ensemble as constituted today has acquired a definite permanent place in the mode, but we are among the decided dissenters from that proposition.

Long Coat and Flared Dress.

Ensemble dresses are normally of silk, principally georgette crepe, satin, crepe-satin, chiffon and taffeta, while the coats are usually developed in wool and silk. Except for Chanel, the Paris designers have chosen the three-quarter, seven-eighths or full-length coat to accompany these costumes, and Chanel has chosen the short coat only to be worn with her well-known jumper effects. Redingotes and an occasional suggestion of the directoire are noteworthy in the new ensemble coats. The most frequent combination is the three-quarter kasha coat lined with printed silk and the silk frock with a hemline flare.

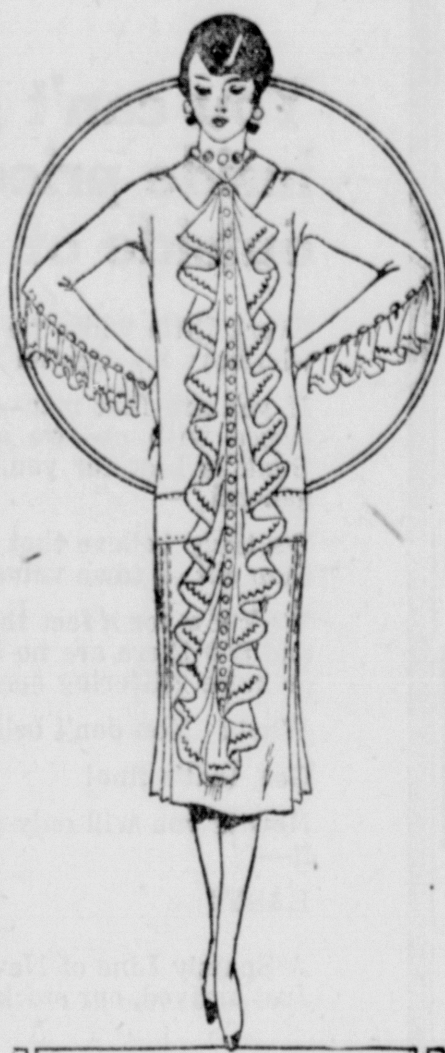

The only obstacle which prevents the spring ensemble from achieving harmonizes with the abbreviated hemline, but because it stands out in sharp contrast to the long coats of the ensemble.

Let it not be thought, however, that the new tailleur always adheres to the conservative lines of former years. It is true that in fabric and color it typically conforms to the substantial, non-radical standards of the past, but it has been spurred by the example of the ensemble to acquire many novel details. One of these is the use of opposing materials for the jacket and skirt; another the featuring of elaborate high-colored linings for the jacket, and the repetition of this same color as a trimming for the outside of both coat and skirt.

The Mode Compromised.

The issue between tailleur and ensemble is still clouded. Each has its salient points. The ensemble shows a new silhouette—and a changed outline has been one of the urgent needs of the mode for several seasons. The tailored suit is an entirely different conception and it expresses simplicity unadorned. The first includes jackets, high collars, and all the other frilly furbelows; the second is plain, in comparatively somber shades, and is developed in the typical, severe O'Rossen manner.

The complete wardrobe, of course, will include both tailleur and ensemble, but there are frugal ladies with limited budgets who are compelled to align themselves with only one of the spring leaders. For them, these precepts. Both themes are en règle—the ensemble is far the safer choice, but the tailleur has a more sporting appeal. Its interlude may be brief and it will not reach the numerical strength of the ensemble this spring, but its proponents will be found in the most fashionable places.

Yet in the last analysis the gentle opportunist will take advantage of a liberal mode and choose according to her type. It isn't always that the opportunity is presented of selecting freely and with a definite assurance of correctness, and the chic demoiselle is certain to improve a situation which is unusual if not unique in the annals of fashion. Only one real danger confronts her, and this she must studiously avoid lest she join the malaprops of the mode. When a tailor-made is selected it must be essentially tailor-made—mannish, severe, and with none of the haunting femininity of the ensemble. And, conversely, the ensemble must avoid the straight rigidity of the tailleur and embody instead the flare and all the airy fragility of the afternoon dress. A tailleur that is half ensemble is not a tailleur at all, and an ensemble that is severely tailored bears too close a resemblance to last year's styles to be smart. Hybrid compromises are decidedly non grata in the new spring fashions, and every costume must be expressed distinctly according to the tenets of its type.

Kasha Daytime Dresses.

Kasha is the basis of the Lanvin daytime dresses that are seen on the streets of Paris and at the exclusive rendezvous. She uses it in every pastel shade as well as in the striking vivid green hue that bears her name. Used alone it is plaited, embroidered, quilted and painted. Combined with other materials it shows the adaptability of kasha, which is charming with a silk-like surah or printed marocain and equally attractive with lace or chiffon gowns. Though it is principally utilized for the sports suit and morning frock, Lanvin has extended the use of kasha to the afternoon dress as well.

The polka dot has taken the place of the large embroidered or appliqued circles that were so popular last season. It is always attractive whether it appears printed on silks and crepe de chine, embroidered in metal threads on taffeta or in fine silk threads on chiffon or organdie. Lanvin uses dots of graduated sizes in haphazard pyramids along the hem of a full-skirted picture dress. She scatters them along the outer curve of an elaborate sleeve and sprinkles them over a corsage in a long narrow point from neck to waist.

FAMOUS ATTORNEY FOR THAW OFFERS SERVICES TO 15 YEAR OLD BOY

Former Judge John M. Patterson, who successfully defended Harry K. Thaw in one of the most sensational trials in the history of Pennsylvania courts has offered his services to the defense attorneys to aid in attempting to prevent the electrocution of William Cavalier, 15 year old boy, who was convicted of killing his grandmother.

Faultless Tailoring in Two-Piece Suits

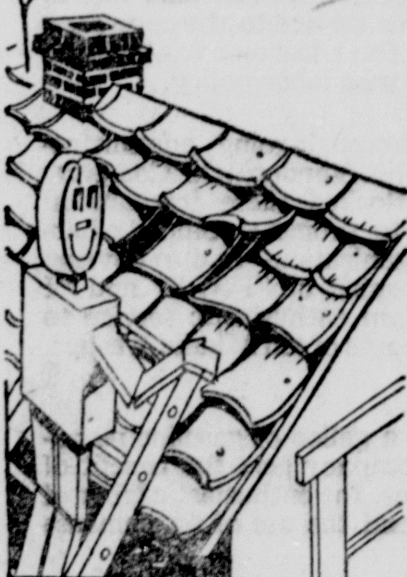

When stylists call the new two-piece suits "mannish" they refer to their simplicity and irreproachable tailoring, for colors and materials are definitely not mannish. A delightful brown model is pictured in a tan and brown cross-bar material with the fewest number of bone buttons possible to use for finishing. It is a faultless suit with skirt ten inches from the floor.

Mohammedan Mosques

The minarets of Mohammedan mosques are the towers from which the officer whose business it is issues the muezzin or call to prayer, at which signal all true Mohammedans face toward the east and engage in devotion.

Have the Same Meaning

The words "flue" and "chimney" may be used interchangeably, but the word "chimney" usually has reference to the upright structure of brick, stone or the like that extends some distance above a building; it also has reference to the funnel or stack of a steam boiler. The word "flue" is the channel or passage for smoke, air and the gases of combustion to pass through.

Reserves of Coal

In estimating coal in reserve it is usual to figure that in a vein of coal one foot thick there would be 1,800 tons under an acre. In a vein three feet thick it would amount to 5,400 tons. About one-third is estimated as waste, therefore, mined, it would amount to 3,600 tons. The amount might be some less or possibly more.

The Nut Gives Up

A rich but very eccentric man died. The clergyman, who was young and new to the parish, thought it a fitting opportunity to call and comfort the widow. "You must not grieve," he told her. "The body that lies here is not your husband. It is merely a husk, an empty shell—the nut has gone to heaven."—Pickup.

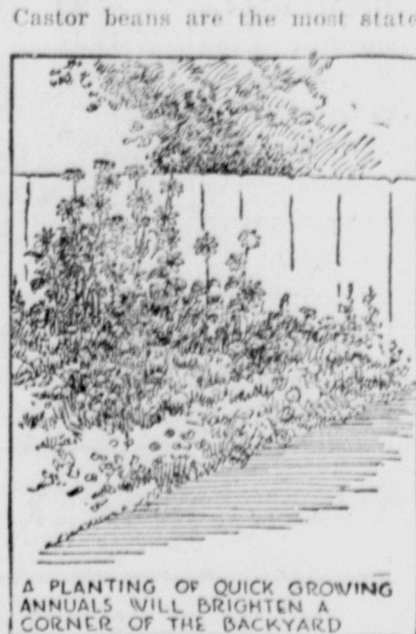

In "Dixie" Land

The term "Dixie" apparently was first applied to Texas. It referred to the region south of the Mason and Dixon line. After its application to Texas the word became the slang designation for the Southern Confederacy, because of the song "Dixie," written at the outbreak of the Civil war.

Brightening Up the Corners

If there has been no opportunity or if opportunity has been neglected to lay out the back yard into an ornamental design more or less elaborate, the neglect can be remedied in great part by corner plantings. Filling in the corners with tall-growing annuals or a few perennials will be a start at a design and will help to form a frame for the grass plot.

Virginia Valli Plays New Character Role in "The Signal Tower"

One of the reigning beauties of the screen, who also reigns supreme as an emotional actress, is Virginia Valli, who plays the enthralling role of "Sally Taylor" in "The Signal Tower," new Universal-super-Jewel production showing at the Lyceum on Tuesday and Wednesday. Her dark, exotic loveliness is a wonderful background for her artistry as an actress.

Now, "The Signal Tower" shows another side of her versatility. As make a fine group and furnish quantities of miniature and delicate sunflowers ranging from pale yellow to orange for cutting during the summer. Cosmos will fill a corner with a feathery mass of foliage and in mid and late summer will bedeck itself with myriads of handsome white, pink, rose, and crimson flowers, fine for bouquets.

Plant early flowering types of cosmos now. For a sunny corner in soil only fairly rich, wonderful effect can be produced by a few of the fine new types of dahlias. They grow to a height of six feet or more, according to variety, with clean shining foliage and in September produce wonderful bloom, ranging from great fluffs the size of your head in some of the advanced types down to little pompons two inches through.

The dahlia is now the queen of the autumn and no garden should be without a few specimens. Plants are on sale later in the season and the dry tubers can be secured now. There is no hurry about putting them in as any time up till June will do.

Spider plant, Cleome, is another tall, fast-growing annual which makes fine clumps and for a shady corner nothing is better than the flowering tobacco, Nicotiana glauca and its types being most effective. The white variety with its spicy stars brightens up a dim corner at dusk wonderfully.

Zane Grey Film Recreates West of 50 Years Ago at New Park Tonight and Tuesday

As radically as a covered wagon differs from an automobile, so a mid-western town of 1876 differs from one of the present day.

No section of the entire world has changed so much in the past fifty years as have the towns of Kansas.

Missouri, Colorado, Montana and Wyoming, as motion picture directors have discovered to their cost when endeavoring to recreate for the films some vanished centre. The sleepy freighting posts of the old west are today bustling cities.

"The Thundering Herd" will be shown at the New Park tonight and Tuesday.

NAME TWO NEW "U" DEPARTMENT HEADS

One of the most important departments in the University of Minnesota has just been successfully reorganized with the appointment of Professor William Albert Riley as head of the department of animal biology and the promotion of Professor Royal N. Chapman to take Dr. Riley's place as head of the division of entomology. Both are Minnesotans. Dr. Riley succeeds Professor Henry F. Nachtrieb, who will retire this spring after more than 30 years of service, with the title of professor emeritus. Both men have taught in the east.

and each obtained his Ph. D. degree at Cornell University, Ithaca, N. Y.

Dr. Riley has specialized in the study of animal parasites, including hook-worm and malaria, which diseases he has investigated in Porto Rico, New Orleans, and elsewhere. Dr. Chapman's specialty is insect pests destructive to plant life and especially those that destroy human foods. He is the discoverer of chloropierin, a chemical compound for the destruction of insect pests in stored grain, which he recently patented and turned over to the University of Minnesota.

They have been at Minnesota for seven and eight years respectively.

New Over-Blouses of Bordered Materials

Designers of blouses are experimenting with the new bordered materials and have used them with fine success in both overblouses and tunic blouses. The model pictured shows a very obvious placing of the figured border with a novel collar and laced front fastening.

Broadening the Base of Industry

"We are living in a world too small to be compartmented," says Willis H. Booth, President of the International Chamber of Commerce.

Long ago the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) foresaw the change in business which is now taking place. Several years ago this Company took a long step in advance by widening the ownership of its capital stock, and by bringing into complete harmony the interests of customers, stockholders, employees and the public.

So far as the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is concerned, the interests of capital, labor and the consumer are no longer divided into separate "compartments." These interests are one.

Only by the profitable employment of the stockholders' capital can the consumer be served and labor employed. The stockholder wants dividends. Dividends are paid out of profits. Profits follow service to the consumer. Efficient service to the consumer can only be achieved through a wise labor policy.

By the careful, thorough-going administration of its affairs, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has interlocked these interests in such a manner as to promote complete harmony in its own organization—and to develop and encourage the spirit of "I Will" and "I Can"—resulting in an enthusiastic service to the thirty million people of ten Middle Western states.

Every purchaser of a gallon of gasoline manufactured by this Company gets the benefit of a myriad of activities, the enthusiastic labor of innumerable men, and the use of an immense amount of capital.

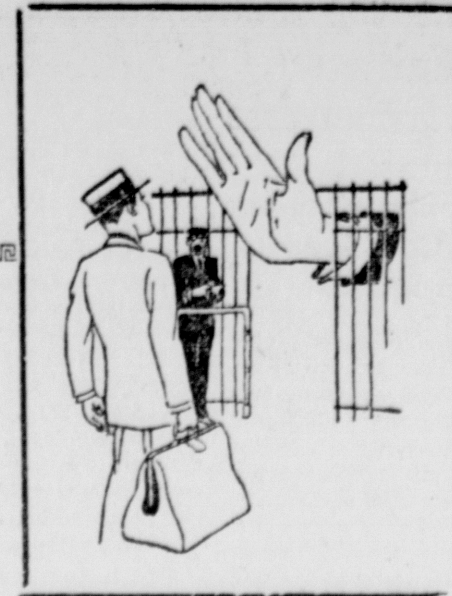

The ideal which inspired the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to work for a practical fusion of the formerly divergent interests was an ideal of service: an earnest desire to further progress by the creation of new wealth in the form of an abundant supply of petroleum products: a determination to sell these products at prices low enough to bring them within the reach of all; making the comfort and luxury of motoring as available to the day laborer as to the multi-millionaire.

E. A. Savage Elected President, Carl Stroming, Fort Ripley, Secretary

Have the Same Meaning

The words "flue" and "chimney" may be used interchangeably, but the word "chimney" usually has reference to the upright structure of brick, stone or the like that extends some distance above a building; it also has reference to the funnel or stack of a steam boiler. The word "flue" is the channel or passage for smoke, air and the gases of combustion to pass through.

Reserves of Coal

In estimating coal in reserve it is usual to figure that in a vein of coal one foot thick there would be 1,800 tons under an acre. In a vein three feet thick it would amount to 5,400 tons. About one-third is estimated as waste, therefore, mined, it would amount to 3,600 tons. The amount might be some less or possibly more.

The Nut Gives Up

A rich but very eccentric man died. The clergyman, who was young and new to the parish, thought it a fitting opportunity to call and comfort the widow. "You must not grieve," he told her. "The body that lies here is not your husband. It is merely a husk, an empty shell—the nut has gone to heaven."—Pickup.

In "Dixie" Land

The term "Dixie" apparently was first applied to Texas. It referred to the region south of the Mason and Dixon line. After its application to Texas the word became the slang designation for the Southern Confederacy, because of the song "Dixie," written at the outbreak of the Civil war.

Brightening Up the Corners
If there has been no opportunity or if opportunity has been neglected to lay out the back yard into an ornamental design more or less elaborate to suit the taste of the owner, the neglect can be remedied in great part by corner plantings. Virginia Valli Plays New Character Role in "The Signal Tower"

One of the reigning beauties of the screen, who also reigns supreme as an emotional actress, is Virginia Valli, who plays the enthralling role of "Sally Taylor" in "The Signal Tower," new Universal-super-Jewel production showing at the Lyceum on Tuesday and Wednesday. Her dark, exotic loveliness is a wonderful background for her artistry as an actress.

Now, "The Signal Tower" shows another side of her versatility. As

make a fine group and furnish quantities of miniature and delicate sunflowers ranging from pale yellow to orange for cutting during the summer. Cosmos will fill a corner with a feathery mass of foliage and in mid and late summer will bedeck itself with myriads of handsome white, pink, rose, and crimson flowers, fine for bouquets.

Plant early flowering types of cosmos now. For a sunny corner in soil only fairly rich, wonderful effect can be produced by a few of the fine new types of dahlias. They grow to a height of six feet or more, according to variety, with clean shining foliage and in September produce wonderful bloom, ranging from great fluffs the size of your head in some of the advanced types down to little pompons two inches through.

The dahlia is now the queen of the autumn and no garden should be without a few specimens. Plants are on sale later in the season and the dry tubers can be secured now. There is no hurry about putting them in as any time up till June will do.

Spider plant, Cleome, is another tall, fast-growing annual which makes fine clumps and for a shady corner nothing is better than the flowering tobacco, Nicotiana glauca and its types being most effective. The white variety with its spicy stars brightens up a dim corner at dusk wonderfully.

MEMORIAL DAY

SERVICES SATURDAY

Short Exercises to be Carried Out
For World War Dead at
Gregory Park

PARADE IS THEN FORMED

Leads Directly to Evergreen Cemetery Where Program of Day is Carried Out

The Memorial Day observance on next Saturday will begin at 9 o'clock on that morning at Gregory park, where short exercises will be carried out for deceased soldiers of the World war, who had been residents of this vicinity. About 25 trees have been planted at Gregory park for these soldiers, which is the reason for the exercises there.

The parade will start at the park immediately after the exercises, and will go directly to Evergreen cemetery, where the program of the day will be carried out under the auspices of Pap Thomas Post, G. A. R., assisted by the Sidney Carl Hanson Post, American Legion.

The program at the cemetery is to be arranged by Prof. W. C. Cobb, in so far as the school children's participation is concerned. The principle address will be made by Rev. Frederick Errington, of Moorhead, formerly of Brainerd, and a veteran of the World War. Rev. Errington, during his residence in the city was chaplain of the local Legion post.

The exercises at the cemetery will be concluded by the bugle calls, with echoes and the salute by the firing squad, under the direction of O. A. Peterson.

The wreaths used in decorating the cross at the cemetery, will be taken to the Laurel street bridge immediately after the program, and delegated to the Mississippi in appropriate memorial exercises for the sailor dead.

E. I. Franson is chairman in charge of the Memorial Day committee, which has not as yet worked out all of the details of the day's observance. Following the custom of other years, the G. A. R. and auxiliaries will be conveyed to the cemetery by automobiles in the parade. School children will march, together with the Legion, the band, and several local organizations.

Brainerd's business section will be decorated with the permanent flag decorations along the curb, and flags will be displayed throughout the residence section.

Citizens are urged to participate in the parade and to attend the services, both at Gregory park and at Evergreen cemetery.

ELEPHANTS ARE COMING

Lee Brothers Wild Animal Show to Exhibit in Brainerd Saturday, May 30th

The elephants are coming!

A big yellow car rolled into the railroad yards Saturday morning. Aboard were thirty billposters, bannermen and advertising agents of Lee Bros. Wild Animal Show.

The mere announcement that the big show is coming has caused small boys to become active, performing all sorts of jobs with an alacrity that stands in vivid contrast to their demeanor before the first signs of the circus appeared. And likewise quite a large number of uncles and aunts are looking about, raking up acquaintances among their nephews and nieces. They are saying that they will probably "have to go and carry the children to see the animals." But deep down in their hearts they know they would not miss the show if there was not a child within a thousand miles of here on show day.

The press agent ahead of Lee Bros. show confessed that he was at his wit's end today. He stated that the big show had gone on increasing year after year until now he finds words inadequate to express the immensity of the show this season. It is described as "bigger and better" than ever before.

Sixteen separate tents are necessary to accommodate the Lee Bros. show, and they are so large that they cover a small size farm. There is more novelties than ever before. More animals and new features than ever before are seen. The big new patriotic spectacle, "America," will be a most pretentious production. The zoo is another feature.

There will be a street parade and the show is one that will surely entertain the youngsters of six and sixty.

Lee Bros. show will exhibit in Brainerd on Saturday, May 30th.

MORE "JOYRIDERS"

Believed to Have Stolen and Then Abandoned Car of George L. Egan

An Overland car, belonging to George L. Egan, an employee at The Northwest Paper Mill, was stolen on Sunday evening from its parking space on Front street, while its owner was attending the theatre.

Police were notified and found the automobile Monday morning, where it had been abandoned in an alley near the corner of North Third and Main streets.

NECESSITY OF CLUB ATTENDANCE

Stressed at Last Meeting of Brainerd Rotary by New Official, President Woodhead

ABSENTEES ON THE CARPET

Several Fined For Unsatisfactory Excuses, Brainerd Club Previously in Wonderful Attendance Record

Written in the war and woof of International Rotary is the idea of regular attendance and the founders early realized that a club which had 100 per cent attendance meetings is the one that prospered and did the most civic work.

President John F. Woodhead, in his new term of office, fell heir to the magnificent attendance records established by the club, when for five meetings there wasn't a single absentee.

Since that time, Brainerd Rotary, probably overcome by its efforts, relaxed and absenteeism is growing. At the last meeting President Woodhead called on S. S. Shaver to tell why he had been absent last meeting and he told his story and the excuse was accepted. Ernie Butler's excuse appeared to have been a halting one and he was fined 25 cents. Carl Zapffe offered mitigating circumstances and he was let off with a 10 cents fine. Bob Campbell had been sick at home and that was accepted as an excuse.

Brainerd club absentees have made up by attending Staples Rotary and now with the coming of the new St. Cloud Rotary club, which meets Wednesdays, they have another opportunity of visiting a neighboring club and "making up."

Chairman E. O. Webb of the special "On to St. Cloud" club now feels assured that practically the whole Brainerd club will attend the charter presentation at the Breen hotel, St. Cloud, Wednesday evening, 6:30 o'clock. Rotarians from all Minnesota are expected to be present. He has promise of enough cars to take the whole club.

Members absent last meeting were Rotarians Chadbourne, Cobban, Cooke, Elbert, Gemmell and Whitney and everybody is "getting set" to see what punishment they will incur tomorrow noon if their excuses fail to pass the president's test.

A new member of Rotary is George D. LaBar and a very eloquent talk was made by H. F. Michael, who introduced the new member to the club.

Miss Mary Tornstrom, principal of Brainerd high school, told of teachers' problems, and asked the cooperation of the club and parents to solve them. The primary aim of education is to make good citizens of its boys and girls. Habits of economy are instilled. They are early taught the necessity of assuming responsibility for acts. Discipline and obedience are inculcated.

Carl Zapffe was down for an extended talk on "The Future of the Cuyuna Iron Range." His time, because of other talks, etc., intervening, was reduced to 10 minutes and he said such a small time limit would barely get him started. With his usual thoroughness, Mr. Zapffe had an authoritative talk prepared, backed up with maps, etc. He traced the iron deposits of the various regions in America and then took up our own range. The Cuyuna range in 1911 entered the lists as a shipper. An area six miles wide and eight miles long is now one of the greatest manganiferous iron ore districts in the whole world. The metal is used in open hearth steel. Last year almost half of the ore shipped from the Cuyuna range was of manganiferous content.

The 1925 Brainonian high school annual is now a finished product, and according to the editorial page of this volume, represents the final result of the intentions and efforts of the Brainonian staff.

Then, the 1925 edition is actually a product of the home-town press; the entire book, including the embossed cover, was printed by the Brainerd Dispatch Printing Company and not by an out-of-town firm as some people choose to believe and state.

The annual is dedicated to Brainerd, the Gateway of Minnesota's lakes and pines, and the pine design is carried out throughout the book on panels, and page and section heads. Much interest is being shown in the neatness of arrangement as well as in interesting pictures and lake scenes.

Only a few, very few, annuals will be obtainable, and those who wish a copy might as well get their today or tomorrow.

MEMORIAL DAY SERVICES SATURDAY

Short Exercises to be Carried Out
For World War Dead at
Gregory Park

PARADE IS THEN FORMED

Leads Directly to Evergreen Cemetery Where Program of Day is Carried Out

The Memorial Day observance on next Saturday will begin at 9 o'clock on that morning at Gregory park, where short exercises will be carried out for deceased soldiers of the World war, who had been residents of this vicinity. About 25 trees have been planted at Gregory park for these soldiers, which is the reason for the exercises there.

The parade will start at the park immediately after the exercises, and will go directly to Evergreen cemetery, where the program of the day will be carried out under the auspices of Pap Thomas Post, G. A. R., assisted by the Sidney Carl Hanson Post, American Legion.

The program at the cemetery is to be arranged by Prof. W. C. Cobb, in so far as the school children's participation is concerned. The principal address will be made by Rev. Frederick Errington, of Moorhead, formerly of Brainerd, and a veteran of the World War. Rev. Errington, during his residence in the city was chaplain of the local Legion post.

The exercises at the cemetery will be concluded by the bugle calls, with echoes and the salute by the firing squad, under the direction of O. A. Peterson.

The wreaths used in decorating the cross at the cemetery, will be taken to the Laurel street bridge immediately after the program, and delegated to the Mississippi in appropriate memorial exercises for the sailor dead.

E. I. Franson is chairman in charge of the Memorial Day committee, which has not as yet worked out all of the details of the day's observance. Following the custom of other years, the G. A. R. and auxiliaries will be conveyed to the cemetery by automobiles in the parade. School children will march, together with the Legion, the band, and several local organizations.

Brainerd's business section will be decorated with the permanent flag decorations along the curb, and flags will be displayed throughout the residence section.

Citizens are urged to participate in the parade and to attend the services, both at Gregory park and at Evergreen cemetery.

ELEPHANTS ARE COMING

Lee Brothers Wild Animal Show to Exhibit in Brainerd Saturday, May 30th

The elephants are coming! A big yellow car rolled into the railroad yards Saturday morning. Aboard were thirty billposters, banners and advertising agents of Lee Bros. Wild Animal Show.

The mere announcement that the big show is coming has caused small boys to become active, performing all sorts of jobs with an alacrity that stands in vivid contrast to their demeanor before the first signs of the circus appeared. And likewise quite a large number of uncles and aunts are looking about, raking up acquaintances among their nephews and nieces. They are saying that they will probably "have to go and carry the children to see the animals." But deep down in their hearts they know they would not miss the show if there was not a child within a thousand miles of here on show day.

The press agent ahead of Lee Bros. show confessed that he was at his wit's end today. He stated that the big show had gone on increasing year after year until now he finds words inadequate to express the immensity of the show this season. It is described as "bigger and better" than ever before.

Sixteen separate tents are necessary to accommodate the Lee Bros. show, and they are so large that they cover a small size farm. There is more novelties than ever before. More animals and new features than ever before are seen. The big new patriotic spectacle, "America," will be a most pretentious production. The zoo is another feature.

There will be a street parade and the show is one that will surely entertain the youngsters of six and sixty.

Lee Bros. show will exhibit in Brainerd on Saturday, May 30th.

MORE "JOYRIDERS"

Believed to Have Stolen and Then Abandoned Car of George L. Egan

An Overland car, belonging to George L. Egan, an employee at The Northwest Paper Mill, was stolen on Sunday evening from its parking space on Front street, while its owner was attending the theatre.

Police were notified and found the automobile Monday morning, where it had been abandoned in an alley near the corner of North Third and Main streets.

The officers believe that the car was taken by "joyriders" who used it last night and then left it where there would be the least possibility of their being seen and identified.

NECESSITY OF CLUB ATTENDANCE

Stressed at Last Meeting of Brainerd Rotary by New Official, President Woodhead

ABSENTEES ON THE CARPET

Several Fined For Unsatisfactory Excuses, Brainerd Club Previously in Wonderful Attendance Record

Written in the war and wool of International Rotary is the idea of regular attendance and the founders early realized that a club which had 100 per cent attendance meetings is the one that prospered and did the most civic work.

President John F. Woodhead, in his new term of office, fell heir to the magnificent attendance records established by the club, when for five meetings there wasn't a single absentee.

Since that time, Brainerd Rotary, probably overcome by its efforts, relaxed and absenteeism is growing. At the last meeting President Woodhead called on S. S. Shaver to tell why he had been absent last meeting and he told his story and the excuse was accepted. Ernie Butler's excuse appeared to have been a halting one and he was fined 25 cents. Carl Zapffe offered mitigating circumstances and he was let off with a 10 cents fine. Bob Campbell had been sick at home and that was accepted as an excuse.

Brainerd club absentees have made up by attending St. James Rotary and now with the coming of the new St. Cloud Rotary club, which meets Wednesdays, they have another opportunity of visiting a neighboring club and "making up."

Chairman E. O. Webb of the special "On to St. Cloud" club now feels assured that practically the whole Brainerd club will attend the charter presentation at the Breen hotel, St. Cloud, Wednesday evening, 6:30 o'clock. Rotarians from all Minnesota are expected to be present. He has promise of enough cars to take the whole club.

Members absent last meeting were Rotarians Chadbourne, Cobban, Cooke, Ebert, Gemmell and Whitney and everybody is "getting set" to see what punishment they will incur tomorrow noon if their excuses fail to pass the president's test.

A new member of Rotary is George D. LaBar and a very eloquent talk was made by H. F. Michael, who introduced the new member to the club.

Miss Mary Tornstrom, principal of Brainerd high school, told of teachers' problems, and asked the cooperation of the club and parents to solve them. The primary aim of education is to make good citizens of its boys and girls. Habits of economy are instilled. They are early taught the necessity of assuming responsibility for acts. Discipline and obedience are inculcated.

Carl Zapffe was down for an extended talk on "The Future of the Cuyuna Iron Range." His time, because of other talks, etc., intervening, was reduced to 10 minutes and he said such a small time limit would barely get him started. With his usual thoroughness, Mr. Zapffe had an authoritative talk prepared, backed up with maps, etc. He traced the iron deposits of the various regions in America and then took up our own range. The Cuyuna range in 1911 entered the lists as a shipper. An area six miles wide and eight miles long is now one of the greatest manganiferous iron ore districts in the whole world. The metal is used in open hearth steel. Last year almost half of the ore shipped from the Cuyuna range was of manganiferous content.

BRAINERD H. S. ANNUAL

Finished Product Makes Its Bow to the General Public Today

BOOK A HOME PRODUCTION

Entire Book, Printing, Also Embossed Cover the Work of Dispatch Presses

The 1925 Brainerd high school annual is now a finished product, and according to the editorial page of this volume, represents the final result of the intentions and efforts of the Brainerdian staff.

Then, the 1925 edition is actually a product of the home-town press; the entire book, including the embossed cover, was printed by the Brainerd Dispatch Printing Company and not by an out-of-town firm as some people choose to believe and state.

The annual is dedicated to Brainerd, the Gateway of Minnesota's lakes and pines, and the pine design is carried out throughout the book on panels, and page and section heads. Much interest is being shown in the neatness of arrangement as well as in interesting pictures and lake scenes.

Only a few, very few, annuals will be obtainable, and those who wish a copy might as well get their's today or tomorrow.

POLITICS TAKES A HAND IN SPORT GAME GIANT LEADER

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, May 25.—Politics and all its bad effects, it seems, just can't be kept out of sports. Internal politics always has been and always will be an issue within the governing bodies of sports, but it is harmless as a rule. While professional sports have always been somewhat of a football for politicians, it is not so often that amateur sports are affected.

One case comes to light recently when the Dutch parliament refused to pass a bill appropriating funds to finance the 1928 Olympic games in Amsterdam. "It was just partisan politics that kept the bill from passing," according to Ernie Hjertberg, well-known former American, who trained the team that Holland sent to Paris for the 1924 games.

"It's this way," he explained. "There are political parties in Holland just as there are in the United States, although what might be called the reform party has more power there than it has in this country. The situation there is much like it would be in this country if Congress should be asked to finance the games in some big American city. If a Republican should introduce the bill it would draw the opposition from the Democratic side of the house, just because the bill was introduced by a Republican and then there might be a socialist and purist side of opposition that would be against the outlay of the money. There would also be a man from Texas who would object to a government subsidy of the games in New York and a New Yorker wouldn't want St. Louis to get the chance to make some money at the expense of the government."

Professional boxing in the United States always has been kicked around by politics and ward politicians. It happened that boxing was restored in New York during a Democratic regime. The bill was introduced by Jimmy Walker, Democratic senator and majority leader of the senate. Politicians said that the Democratic party would be held responsible if any disorder came out of a mixed bout for the heavyweight championship and that no chance could be taken.

FEARS PIRATES; CLUB IS STRONG

McGraw CONSIDERS BROOKLYN ONLY A FAIR CLUB

CINCINNATI AND CHICAGO CAN NOT COP THE PENNANT

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, May 25.—John McGraw said before the current season started the Pittsburgh Pirates were the only club that stood in the way of another and fifth consecutive National league pennant for the Giants. Brooklyn, fair; Cincinnati, no; Chicago, impossible, the master mind of the New York club answered when asked for his opinion about the pennant race.

"The Pittsburgh club is the best club in the league next to the Giants and we'll have to beat them if we win the pennant," he said.

McGraw stuck to his boast for the Pirates, even when they were floundering around almost in the cellar and were having all the trouble in the world in getting started.

"They will come through. Good ball clubs can always pull out of a slump and those Pirates are a good ball club in a bad slump," he said.

The Giant boss was razed last year when he said the Pirates would be the main opposition to his club, because the Pirates fell into bad ways and the Brooklyn Robins stepped out and gave the champion the chase of their lives right to the wire. The pace was so hot that Jimmy O'Connell and Cozy Dolan were chased out of baseball for trying to buy a game that would cinch the pennant.

It begins to look now, however, that the Pirates are the only rival to the Giants and that they are going to get some place in the National league pennant race. They are by far the best of the clubs that have shown in New York. It is certainly the fastest club in baseball. It has a fine outfield, an infield that is above the ordinary, even if it is spotty at first base, and a good bunch of battery men.

"I've been on the pan all year because I let Maranville, Cooper and Grimm go to the Cubs for Niehaus, Grantham and Aldridge," Bill McKee said. "I'm not going to make any excuses for that deal, because I think I was right and I believe that the future will prove me right."

"DAZZY" VANCE AND HIS $1,000 PRIZE FOR BEING MOST VALUABLE PLAYER

This photograph was taken after Vance, speedball king, had received $1,000 in gold and a medal emblematic of the most valuable player in the National League for the season of 1924. "Daddy" last season won 28 games for the Brooklyn team and lost only 6. His blushed a bit as he was handed his bag of gold, all in $20. gold pieces.

Miss Rogers Gained 15 Pounds in Six Weeks

Skinny Men and Women Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days or Money Back

My Dear Friends:

After my attack of Flu I was thin, run-down and weak. I had a shallow complexion, my cheeks were sunk in and I was continually troubled with gas on my stomach. I felt stuffy and had lost my appetite. I had read about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets and decided to give them a trial. At once, I began to pick up an appetite, my cheeks filled out and my complexion became healthy looking and I gained 15 pounds in six weeks and am very thankful for what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for me.

Miss Alberta Rogers, 264 W. Cerro Gorda St., Decatur, Ill.

To take on weight, grow strong and vigorous, to fill out the hollows in cheeks and neck, try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets for 30 days. 60 tablets—60 cents at Johnson's Pharmacy, Economy Drug Co. and live druggists everywhere. If they don't give you wonderful help in 30 days, get your money back—you be the judge. But be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine.—Adv.

POLITICS TAKES A HAND IN SPORT GAME GIANT LEADER

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, May 25.—Politics and all its bad effects, it seems, just can't be kept out of sports. Internal politics always has been and always will be an issue within the governing bodies of sports, but it is harmless as a rule. While professional sports have always been somewhat of a football for politicians, it is not so often that amateur sports are affected.

One case comes to light recently when the Dutch parliament refused to pass a bill appropriating funds to finance the 1928 Olympic games in Amsterdam. "It was just partisan politics that kept the bill from passing," according to Ernie Hjertberg, well-known former American, who trained the team that Holland sent to Paris for the 1924 games.

"It's this way," he explained. "There are political parties in Holland just as there are in the United States, although what might be called the reform party has more power there than it has in this country. The situation there is much like it would be in this country if Congress should be asked to finance the games in some big American city. If a Republican should introduce the bill it would draw the opposition from the Democratic side of the house, just because the bill was introduced by a Republican and then there might be a socialist and purist side of opposition that would be against the outlay of the money. There would also be a man from Texas who would object to a government subsidy of the games in New York and a New Yorker wouldn't want St. Louis to get the chance to make some money at the expense of the government."

Professional boxing in the United States always has been kicked around by politics and ward politicians. It happened that boxing was restored in New York during a Democratic regime. The bill was introduced by Jimmy Walker, Democratic senator and majority leader of the senate. Politicians said that the Democratic party would be held responsible if any disorder came out of a mixed bout for the heavyweight championship and that no chance could be taken.

FEARS PIRATES; CLUB IS STRONG

McGraw Considers Brooklyn Only A Fair Club

Cincinnati and Chicago Can't Cop The Pennant

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, May 25.—John McGraw said before the current season started the Pittsburgh Pirates were the only club that stood in the way of another and fifth consecutive National league pennant for the Giants.

Brooklyn, fair; Cincinnati, no; Chicago, impossible, the master mind of the New York club answered when asked for his opinion about the pennant race.

"The Pittsburgh club is the best club in the league next to the Giants and we'll have to beat them if we win the pennant," he said.

McGraw stuck to his boast for the Pirates, even when they were foundering around almost in the cellar and were having all the trouble in the world in getting started.

"They will come through. Good ball clubs can always pull out of a slump and those Pirates are a good ball club in a bad slump," he said.

The Giant boss was razed last year when he said the Pirates would be the main opposition to his club, because the Pirates fell into bad ways and the Brooklyn Robins stepped out and gave the championing the chase of their lives right to the wire.

The pace was set by Jimmy O'Connell and Cozy Dolan were chased out of baseball for trying to buy a game that would clinch the pennant.

It begins to look now, however, that the Pirates are the only rival to the Giants and that they are going to get some place in the National league pennant race. They are by far the best of the clubs that have shown in New York. It is certainly the fastest club in baseball. It has a fine outfield, an infield that is above the ordinary, even if it is spotty at first base, and a good bunch of battery men.

"I've been on the pan all year because I let Maranville, Cooper and Grimm go to the Cubs for Niehaus, Grantham and Aldridge," Bill McKeechie said. "I'm not going to make any excuses for that deal, because I think I was right and I believe that the future will prove me right."

"DAZZY" VANCE AND HIS $1,000 PRIZE FOR BEING MOST VALUABLE PLAYER

This photograph was taken after Vance, speedball king, had received $1,000 in gold and a medal emblematic of the most valuable player in the National League for the season of 1931. "Daddy" last season won 28 games for the Brooklyn team and lost only 6. His blushed a bit as he was handed his bag of gold, all in $20. gold pieces.
